BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH

Charles S. Johnson was born in St. Louis in 1885, and graduated from Washington University with a degree in civil engineering. In 1910, he married Harriet Nelson Tate. He served as a captain with the 12th Engineers in World War I. After the war he worked for many years for the Wabash Rail Road as chief bridge engineer. He and his wife had three children, Hugh Nelson Johnson, Charles S. Johnson, Jr. and Mary Shore Johnson Barnes.

Johnson's genealogical research represented a lifelong hobby. He routinely spent vacations visiting court houses, old churches, and cemeteries in Virginia. Saturdays were spent at the library doing further research and many evenings were spent on correspondence and compilation of his research material.
