Historical Note:

The College of Physicians and Surgeons of Kansas City opened in 1869. The school, located at the junction of Main and Delaware Streets, was founded by Dr. Franklin Cooley and Drs. Simeon Todd and Alfred Taylor, two Civil War veterans who helped revitalize Jackson County's medical profession in 1865. The Kansas City College of Physicians and Surgeons merged with the Kansas City Medical College under the name Kansas City College of Physicians and Surgeons. A decade later, the school reorganized and the name reverted to Kansas City Medical College. It was later absorbed by the University of Kansas School of Medicine in 1905.

Arrangement:

The collection has been arranged into three folders by size. Items are arranged chronologically within the folders.

Scope and Content Note:

The College of Physicians and Surgeons of Kansas City Records contains financial documents, two oversize items, and a minute book. The financial documents folder consists of listings of deposits stub receipts from 1902 to 1904. Oversize items in the collection include a diploma awarded to Martha Mitchell-Bacon, dated 1897 and a photograph of the class of 1897. The collection also includes a minute book, dated 1894 to 1905.
