Introduction

Approximately 60 cu. ft.

Records of the Community Christian Church of Kansas City, Missouri. The Community Christian Church's origins in Kansas City date back to the late 1880s, and its name and locations have changed several times during its history. The structure at 4201 Main Street, adjacent to the Country Club Plaza, was designed by Frank Lloyd Wright and opened in 1942. The collection includes materials relating to: the church's early history; board, administrative council and committee meeting minutes; programs, events and mission trips; bulletins, directories, newsletters and other publications; recorded sermons and guest speakers; photographs; financial records; and oversize materials.

This preliminary inventory was compiled with the assistance of Community Christian Church volunteers.
