HISTORY:

A significant branch within the Jewish Community Center of Kansas City, the Department of Cultural Arts has developed diverse programs addressing Jewish identity, history, and cultural continuity through recognizing the contributions of Jewish artists to art and theatre. Along with sponsoring a recurring Jewish Arts Festival featuring the work of leading Jewish artists (traditional and modern) in Israel and throughout the United States, the Department's activities include seasonal performances (Center Season) of diverse Jewish entertainers (comedians, actors, classical musicians, folk and rock musicians) engaged in eclectic media (plays, musicals, one-person shows, classical concerts), as well as a Jewish Film Festival held on a consistent annual basis since 1999.

PROVENANCE:

DESCRIPTION:

Containing correspondence, committee minutes, artist portfolios, performers' information sheets, newspaper clippings, financial statements, event programs/flyers, and film press reviews, this collection is subdivided into categories representing the Department of Cultural Arts primary activities: Jewish Art Festivals, Gallery Theater productions, Tzedakah Arts, the Jerry Penzner Young Artists Showcase, and the Jewish Film Festivals. (The one notable exception to the collection's general organization via programs is the separate category allocated to a January 24, 1998 concert by celebrated Broadway performer Mandy Patinkin, an event which received disproportional preparation and local press coverage owing to the high publicity of its star.)

Despite containing letters from the 1980s and newspaper clippings dating as far back as to the Israeli Chief Rabbi's historic meeting with President Truman in 1964, owing to the collection's primary concentration on the years 1994-2007, its chronological scope is consequently assigned to these thirteen years.

Additional materials concern the history of the Resident Theatre, and a portfolio of limited edition lithographs entitled The Shtetl by William Gropper.
