Community Children's Theatre of Kansas City, Inc. Records

1947-1999

16 cubic feet, 1 oversize box, rolled items

Organizational records of Kansas City area Children's Theatre group made up of a number of local theater companies: presidents files, committee notebooks, minutes, rosters, financial records, programs, publications, newsletters, and photographs. Also plays/scripts and performance photographs. scrapbooks, various books, catalogues, and professional publications.

HISTORY:

In the fall of 1946 the Kansas City, Missouri Junior League revived their Children's Theatre activity after the War years. Urged by the then superintendent of schools, Dr. Harold Hunt, to broaden the focus to a truly representative community children's project, The Community Children's Theatre of Kansas City was incorporated in 1947. The organization's goal was "to entertain, to educate, to broaden horizons and to train future audiences to appreciate live theater." Trouping shows were taken directly to elementary schools in the Kansas City area at no charge. Plays were produced and performed by members of various civic organizations including: The Junior League of Kansas City, Missouri; the Musettes, an auxiliary of the Nelson-Atkins Museum of Art; the Kansas City Young Matrons; the Tomahawk Junior Service League; the Junior League of Kansas City, Kansas; the Independence Young Matrons; the Shawnee Mission, Kansas Soroptimist Club; the City Recreation Division; the Gumdrop Players; the Olathe Junior Service League; the Grandview Troupettes, and the American Association of University Women. In addition, centralized productions, or subscription plays, were performed at the University of Kansas City (1952-1959), the Music Hall (1961-1966), at various high schools in Johnson County, KS (usually Shawnee Mission North); at the remodeled Karnes School; and at the Folly Theatre (the Folly-CCT Children's Series with the Folly Manager, Bob Dustman).

In 1999, the Community Children's Theatre of Kansas City, Inc. turned the governing role over to Chameleon Theatre Company. Chameleon Theatre Company employs the arts in teaching problem solving to troubled youth in the Kansas City area. Two trouping units; the Junior League of Wyandotte and Johnson Counties, and the Olathe Junior Service League continue to troupe plays for the elementary school children in their areas. Chameleon Theatre Company has received several local and national awards for their productions addressing youth violence and their intervention programs.
