These are printed reports of the annual sessions of the Wright County Baptist Association. The reports include minutes of meetings, statistical information on member churches, and reports on finances, missions, and church-sponsored programs.

The Wright County Baptist Association was organized in 1869 as the Ozark Association. By 1931, it consisted of twenty-three churches, the largest congregation being that in Mountain Grove, Missouri. Membership had declined slightly to twenty churches by 1948. Statistical tables published in the annual reports note the numerical strengths of constituent churches, and the status of the meeting houses, Sunday schools, and auxiliary organizations for women and young people. Historical information presented in the reports includes founding dates of church organizations and lists of ordained and licensed ministers.

The annual reports for 1932 to 1948 of the Wright County Baptist Association were originally donated by Madeline Turpin to the Western Historical Manuscript Collection-Kansas City. They were transferred to the Western Historical Manuscript Collection-Rolla in February 1985.
