Leggett & Platt was founded in 1883 at Carthage, Missouri, by J. P. Leggett and C. B. Platt. The company first produced bedsprings and later began to manufacture box springs. As Leggett & Platt, Inc., the firm supplies components to manufacturers of furniture and bedding, and produces a line of sleep-related furniture. Carthage is still the corporate headquarters of Leggett & Platt, including the administrative offices, technical center, wire mill, machine shop, and manufacturing plant. Specialized production facilities and distribution points are located across the country.
