These are two booklets promoting tourism in Taney and Stone counties in Missouri. Entitled Come to Lake Taneycomo and the White River Country: The Vacation Paradise of the Ozarks, each contains many advertisements for hotels, resorts, cottages, camps, and other tourist-related businesses, as well as a map of the area.

The White River Boosters League and commercial associations from area communities published these booklets to promote tourism around Lake Taneycomo and the White River in the Ozarks. They contain useful information for visitors, including maps, photographs and descriptions of tourist sites and facilities, and many advertisements for accommodations and attractions. The first booklet contains twenty pages and is undated, although a map of the Missouri Pacific Railroad on the outside back cover appears to be dated 1934. The second booklet contains 28 pages and has been dated 1940 through one of the advertisements.
