This is a brochure promoting the 1967 season at the Austin Wood Auditorium at Lake Ozark in Miller County, Missouri. Featuring stars from the “Grand Ole Opry,” the country music venue featured namesake Austin Wood and such well-known performers as Loretta Lynn, Roy Acuff, Lester Flatt and Earl Scruggs, Tex Ritter, Ralph Emery, and Ernest Tubb.

The Austin Wood Auditorium was located on United States Highway 54 about two miles south of Bagnell Dam. Featuring a “new show each week,” its season ran from May through September. Austin Wood was a blind musician and promoter who had a long career in the central Missouri area. The brochure includes aerial and interior views of the auditorium, a schedule of shows, and portrait photographs of the featured performers.
