

Information Sheet

R Malden Army Air Field (Malden, Mo.).
1157 Newspaper, 1944.
 One folder.

This collection is available at The State Historical Society of Missouri. If you would like more information, please contact us at shsresearch@umsystem.edu.

This is Vol. II, No. 35 (23 December 1944) of The Malden Breeze, the base newsletter at Malden Army Air Field at Malden in Dunklin County, Missouri. Lt. Col. Charles A. Cowing was Commanding Officer, Lt. Col. William T. Duden was Executive Officer, and Sgt. Carr C. Link was editor.

Malden Army Air Field was used to train personnel for the United States Army Air Forces Troop Carrier Command during the Second World War. The Troop Carrier Command used, mostly, C-47 transport planes to carry paratroopers, supplies, and other personnel and cargo throughout all theatres of the conflict. The Malden Breeze kept personnel up to date on happenings at the base, in the Troop Carrier Command, and the in very general terms, the war.

r1286

22 August 2006

Kenneth W. Kipp

Purchase

Index Cards

Air bases—Missouri—Malden
Avery, Lou
Baker, Lyman T.
Bennett, David W.
Blucher, Fred D.
Connelly, Hubert A.
Cowing, Charles A.
Cowing, Robert H.
Crane, Mary Helen Deblois, Frank
Di Fonso, Louis
Duden, William T.
Dunklin County (Mo.)
Heaton, Jonas
Jennings, Margaret
Kempner, Colin C.
Knorr, William S.
Link, Carr C.
Malden (Mo.)
Malden Army Air Field (Malden, Mo.)
Marofsky, Sid
McGregor, Mary
McNamara, John
Military bases—Missouri—Dunklin County
Miller, Keith C.

Moody, Burt
Morrow, Walter G.
Moskal, John
Moss, William C.
Olson, Earl H.
Oswald, Robert B.
Owen, A. Y.
Primont, Arthur D.
Rawson, Joseph B.
Reed, W. E.
Russell, Harry C.
Settemire, Claude L.
Stratton, E. I.
Strege, Jim
Tutwiler, Lorenza H.
United States. Army Air Forces. Band, 704th
United States. Army Air Forces. Troop Carrier Command, 64th
United States. Army Air Forces. Troop Carrier Group, 62nd
United States. Army Air Forces. Troop Carrier Squadron, 4th
Watson, John C.
Whitmore, William R.
Windsor, Walter B.
Woodhams, Frank A.
Ybrmlovich, Frank