The St. Louis Naturalists Club originated in 1898 when several friends got together to discuss topics of natural science. Someone at the gathering suggested that it would be nice to meet on a regular basis and the club was the result. Although the club is informal in the sense that they have no formal bylaws or officers, they do have unwritten guidelines. The club meets on the last Saturday of every month at the home of one of the members. The club is limited to twelve members and the member who hosts the meeting is responsible for a presentation related to natural science for the edification of his fellow members.

SCOPE AND CONTENT

The collection contains a variety of materials collected over the years by many club members. Correspondence, newsclippings and meeting sign-in sheets are joined by the writings of many of the members. also included are many photographs taken at club meetings and outings.

SERIES DESCRIPTION

SERIES 1: Administrative Records. This series contains the meeting sign-in sheets and anniversary materials as well as some club histories and resolutions on the death of members.

SERIES 2: Personal papers of the various members and their colleagues. This series contains many of the talks presented by the members at the monthly meetings as well as publications, notes and correspondence.

SERIES 3: This series contains photographs of meetings, outings and individual members. One folder is a scrapbook containing photographs of members along with short biographies and newsclippings.
