This collection is available at The State Historical Society of Missouri. If you would like more information, please contact us at sbsresearch@umsystem.edu.

Jet-Lag magazine was a St. Louis-based music magazine that published more than 90 times between 1980 and 1992. Co-founders John Korst and Steve Pick provided content focused on punk rock and new wave music, with a great deal of coverage on the local music scene.

SCOPE AND CONTENT

The collection, donated by Tony Renner, contains Jet-Lag issues from 1980 through 1992 (non-inclusive). This collection contains 55 of the 93 published issues. In addition, the collection includes a St. Louis Post-Dispatch news feature about the magazine and its founders, titled "When New Wave and Punk Were Young."
