INTRODUCTION

Oral history interviews with members of the International Women's Forum (IWF) in St. Louis and St. Louis County on their personal and professional lives. These records include DVDs and transcripts.

PROJECT SKETCH

The International Women's Forum-St. Louis Oral History Collection (IWF) is a project conducted by the State Historical Society of Missouri-St. Louis. The forum, founded by Elinor "Elly" Guggenheimer in 1974 began with the intention of bringing women in leadership together to share their experiences and today has grown into building, "better global leadership across careers, continent and cultures by connecting the world's most pre-eminent women of significant and diverse achievement." The collection began in 2013 by video recording members of the St. Louis forum and was brought to the Historical Society by fellow member Dr. Blanche M. Touhill, Chancellor Emeritus of the University of Missouri-St. Louis, and seeks to document who these women are and how they established themselves as successful, enterprising leaders in the city of St. Louis and St. Louis County.

Interviewees are initially posed a set of seven questions prior to their interview. Interviews are limited to one-hour.

SCOPE AND CONTENT NOTE

The International Women's Forum-St. Louis Oral History Collection (IWF) consists of oral interviews on DVDs and transcripts. The DVDs and transcripts are in chronological order. An index to the major topics found in this project will follow soon.
